

Indomitable Siege Tank (Ageis Pattern)

Ageis Forgeworld is a fairly new forgeworld built by the Mechanicus. Intended to be a Bastion against flare ups from the Eye of Terror, the forgeworld has proven to be a bit of headache for the adepts of Mars. The leading Magos of Ageis is a controversial radical known as Adolphus Wogicus who has claimed to find various new meanings in existing STC data that more conservative elements are still treating as controversial at best and downright heretical at worst. While the priests of Mars debate the question of the machine god's involvement in the weapons design, there is no one who can doubt their effectiveness.

The indomitable was built at the request of the Grey Protectorate, which is currently the only force known to field the pattern and includes all three of the new Ageis pattern weapons. The Indomitable is designed to operate as an alaround infantry support heavy tank in much the same way as the banblade. It is, however, quite a bit lighter chassis, but is still very well armed for its size.

Imperial Indomitable
	Points	BS	Armor
			front	side	rear
Indomitable	273	3	14	13	10

Substitution: An Imperial Indomitable may be taken instead of a Baneblade anywhere where a Baneblade is taken.

Type: Tracked, Lumbering

Structure: 2 points

Crew: 5 Guardsmen

Transport: None

Fire Points: None

Access Points: None

Options: The Indomitable may take any upgrades available to the Baneblade

Weapons:

Spearpoint Anti-tank gun

Plasma Cannon

Cloudraker Pattern vertical Launch Battery

2x Longarm pattern heavy bolters

Modeling: The Indomitable is made from a 1/35 WWII Grant Tank Hull modeled onto a 1/35 T62 hull. The weapons are swapped out where necessary and a rack of vertical launch tubes added to the rear.

SPECIAL RULES

Spearpoint Anti tank gun: The spearpoint antitank gun is a redesign of the earthshaker cannon removed from its standard mounting and with the bore size decreased. Further, traditional earthshaker high explosive rounds are replaced with solid adamantium slugs. The result is a gun with a fearsome armor penetration. Unfortunately with the explosive warhead removed, the weapon is limited in its ability to detonate enemy tanks, but has proven very effective at rendering them inoperable.

Range	Str	AP	Special
72"	10	1	Titan Killer (D2), Heavy 1, No HE

The spearpoint's warhead is not explosive and therefore while it can kill tanks very effectively by shattering components as it generally passes through the hull, it will rarely cause them to explode. Therefore if the spearpoint gets a result of 4+ on a penetrating hit or on the war machine catastrophic damage table, only apply the results as if a 4 had been rolled.

Cloudraker vertical Launch Battery: The cloudraker vertical launch battery is supposedly based on a truly ancient pattern of the exorcist multi-launcher where the warhead has been altered looking for a decrease in raw hitting power in favor of improved shrapnel spread. As Magos Wogicus supposedly disassembled one of the venerated exorcists in the process of gaining this knowledge, this weapon has proven particularly controversial.

Range	Str	AP	Special
48”G	6	4	Ordnance 3 (barrage)

Longarm pattern heavy bolter: The Longarm pattern of heavy bolter is a redesign adding a radically longer, but thinner barrel and a special ammo feed system to provide for improvements in range and capability. However, the larger barrel prevents the weapon from being man portable.

Range	Str	AP	Special
54”	5	4	Heavy 3